

ABSTRACT

A method for making written documents available to the visually impaired. The method includes generating a cover sheet that has both machine readable information and tactilely readable information and scanning a document using the cover sheet. A cover sheet for scanning a document, which includes machine readable markings and tactilely readable markings.